

Innovations in the Biopharmaceutical Industry Conference

November 10, 2023 • 9 AM – 3:30 PM • Baltimore, MD

This one-day conference will focus on research, practice, and policy on innovations in the biopharmaceutical industry. The conference will focus on how companies continue to innovate; how policies and regulations can be strengthened to incentivize innovation; and how innovations can reach the patients who need them. The conference will take a three-pronged approach by engaging academic researchers, policymakers, and industry experts in the debate about the future of biopharmaceutical innovation.
