SCHOOL of EDUCATION

Master of Education for Teaching Professionals Homewood Information Session

Johns Hopkins faculty and staff are reimagining teacher preparation at the School of Education. We are thrilled to start recruitment for TeachingWell - the first ever teacher preparation program at Hopkins that partners with districts to create an intensive teacher training M.Ed. with four years of coaching and support following the completion of the one-year degree.

Please join us to learn more from our faculty and staff about this groundbreaking program.
