

STORYTELLING IN DATA SCIENCE: AN EVENT WITH ANDREW GELMAN AND THOMAS BASBØLL

FRIDAY, APRIL 26, 2024

SHOULD SCIENTISTS TELL STORIES OR MAKE ARGUMENTS?

Thomas Basbøll,
*Resident Writing
Consultant,
Copenhagen
Business School Library*

10 to 11:30 a.m.
Shriver Hall
Boardroom

STORYTELLING AND SCIENTIFIC UNDERSTANDING

Andrew Gelman,
*Professor of Statistics and Political Science,
Columbia University*

5 to 6:30 p.m.
Hodson Hall 213

Join the Data Science and AI Institute on Friday, April 26 for an event featuring Professor Andrew Gelman from Columbia University and Thomas Basbøll from Copenhagen Business School. Discover the importance of storytelling in science and its impact on understanding and evaluating theories.

REGISTRATION

[storytelling-in-data-
science.eventbrite.com](https://storytelling-in-data-science.eventbrite.com)

Johns Hopkins sponsors:

Center for Digital Humanities, Department of Computer Science, Department of English