

Johns Hopkins Science Diplomacy Hub: Science Meets Regions: Estonia & Rwanda | Climate Collaboration for a Sustainable Future

JOHNS HOPKINS
UNIVERSITY

SCIENCE DIPLOMACY HUB
JOHNS HOPKINS

In collaboration with the Embassy of Estonia, Embassy of Rwanda, and the National Science Policy Network.

- The science diplomacy climate event will feature keynote remarks by the Ambassador of Estonia to the United States of America (H.E. Kristjan Prikk), followed by flash talks by distinguished speakers from Estonia, Rwanda, and the U.S.
- Key knowledge and insights on the latest developments in climate science and adaptability
- National strategies from Estonia and Rwanda for addressing climate challenges
- Air quality and strategies for solutions
- International cooperation on climate issues
- Long-term perspective on the impacts of climate change

MONDAY 13 MAY, 2024

04:00 – 06:00 PM

SCIENCE DIPLOMACY HUB

BLOOMBERG CENTER
555 Pennsylvania Ave NW
Washington, D.C.

RSVP by May 11th

Speakers

JOHNS HOPKINS
UNIVERSITY

H.E. Kristjan Prikk | Ambassador of Estonia to the United States of America

Hans Orru | Head of the Centre for Sustainable Development, Professor of Environmental Health at the University of Tartu, Estonia

Heikki Junninen | Head of Laboratory of Atmospheric and Environmental Sciences, Institute of Physics at the University of Tartu, Estonia (TBC)

Brian Magi | Associate Professor of Atmospheric Science, Department of Geography and Earth Sciences at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte, NC, USA

Yannick Tona | Advisor and Political Coordinator, Embassy of Rwanda in Washington, D.C.

Linda Hinnov | Professor, Department of Atmospheric, Oceanic, and Earth Sciences at the George Mason University, VA, USA

National Science
Policy Network

EMBASSY OF ESTONIA
WASHINGTON, D.C.