

CRITICAL DIASPORA STUDIES METHODS WORKSHOP

COMPARATIVE COLONIALISMS, GENRE, AND AESTHETICS

RENEE HUDSON

Professor Hudson—Assistant Professor of English and Director of the Latinx and Latin American Studies Program at Chapman University—reads transhistorically to put ethnic and area studies in conversation with each other and to read across conventional periodizations. In this workshop, Prof. Hudson will discuss Latinx Revolutionary Horizons as a method for reading and analyzing texts, particularly as a scholar who engages in comparative colonialisms, genre studies, and questions of aesthetics more broadly.

26 FEBRUARY 2025

12:00-1:15 PM, GILMAN HALL 75

RSVP: GILADI@JHU.EDU

SPONSORED BY THE CHLOE CENTER FOR THE CRITICAL STUDY OF RACISM, IMMIGRATION, AND COLONIALISM