

How to Make a Humanities Podcast

Workshop Series

Free to attend, open to all

Image credit: Scott Akerman

These workshops are for anyone hoping to launch a podcast or just curious about how to get into podcasting. Whether you're a student or scholar in the humanities, or just want to make a podcast that reaches other human beings, these workshops are for you!

Workshops take place Fridays, 12-1pm:

- March 7th - Planning and pre-production
- March 28th - Getting good audio
- April 18th - Post-production and reaching audiences

You can attend in person at Conference Room A in Levering Hall (free lunch!) or on Zoom. Workshop recordings will be available to those registered who can't attend live.

Workshops led by Milan Terlunen

- AGHI/Tabb Center Engaged Humanities Postdoctoral Fellow
- co-creator and host of How To Read and In Sacred Spaces podcasts
- co-founder, Humanities Podcast Network
- co-editor, Palgrave Handbook of Humanities Podcasting
- enthusiastic maker and eater of baked goods

To register, scan the QR code.

