

The Five Paths to Leadership®

UNLOCK LEADERSHIP POTENTIAL—FOR YOURSELF, YOUR TEAM, AND YOUR CAMPUS

In the ever-evolving landscape of higher education, leadership demands adaptability. Achieving this requires a deep understanding of how you and your colleagues show up as leaders and how your behavior changes under stress. The Five Paths to Leadership® Self-Assessment gives you language and a framework to use to improve collaboration and an intuitive tool to help you lean into and strategically embrace other styles when needed. Use it to learn more about yourself, enable better team dynamics, and create a shared language of leadership campus-wide.

Assessment Instructions:

Experience the enlightenment that comes with learning and growing with others. Once you complete the assessment and have your results, we look forward to you joining us for a debrief session. Participating in this session is a great way to experience this content first-hand and gain a better understanding of your own leadership styles. You can also explore further Five Paths topics in our Applying the Model self-paced course.

- Log in to Academic Impressions in with JHU email address by going to this link: Johns Hopkins University Membership and Single Sign-On - Academic Impressions
- Take the Five Paths to Leadership Self-Assessment. The assessment should take about 10 minutes. You can access the assessment here.
- Results will automatically be emailed to you (from webmaster@academicimpressions.com) upon completion of the assessment and will show up in your Academic Impressions account.
- If you do not receive your results report, please contact us at operations@academicimpressions.com with the name and email address you used to access the assessment for assistance.

TAKE THE ASSESSMENT

QUESTIONS? Reach out to your partner success manager today!

Breanne Holloway

Email: breanne@academicimpressions.com