As the COVID-19 vaccination campaign continues, it is critical that vaccines are delivered fairly and equitably—so that everyone has access.

Join us for a webinar to discuss a forthcoming report from CommuniVax, a coalition to strengthen the community's involvement in an equitable vaccination rollout, Carrying Equity in COVID-19 Vaccination Forward: Guidance Informed by Communities of Color.

This webinar will outline a new strategy for the COVID-19 vaccination campaign informed by rapid research conducted with Black and Hispanic/Latino communities across the United States. Public health and government leaders will hear specific guidance on how to adapt COVID-19 vaccination efforts to achieve greater vaccine coverage in underserved populations, and through this, to develop sustainable, locally appropriate mechanisms to advance equity in health.
